

Greetings Dr. Hastings,

I am writing to provide the details of the PCS support available for the Molecular Diagnostics Certificate Program.

Professional & Continuing Studies (PCS) provides support to students taking, and faculty offering, completely online courses. PCS supports students taking online courses, certificates and programs (including the Molecular Diagnostics Certificate Program) with advising, course registration, technical support and proctored exams. PCS supports faculty offering online courses with course development, scheduling a course in UDSIS, compensation processing and instructional design.

If I can provide any additional information please let me know.

Have a nice day.

Elizabeth
